"Developing and Enforcing Sporting Regulations for the Air Race"

Jim Reed grew up in Salina, Kansas, an area immersed in aviation history. He was a volunteer for the Global Flyer project that took-off and landed in Salina. When the project was completed he moved to Mojave to work for Scaled Composites, where the Global Flyer was designed and constructed. In 2009, he began working as a technician for Red Bull Air Race, as a second job, just for fun!

Presently, Jim works as an Engineer at The SpaceShip Company and also works for Red Bull Air Race as the Technical Director.
